

Taylor Counseling Group Welcomes Public to Waco Office

Affordable counseling provider opens doors to in-person visits for first time

(DALLAS) March 2, 2022 – Taylor Counseling Group, a Texas-based counseling provider on a mission to provide affordable, accessible care, today announced the full opening of its first Waco office. Located on Austin Avenue in the former Bank of America building between N 5th and S 6th Avenue, the office was solely accepting virtual visits until today.

Taylor Counseling Group's Waco office offers individual counseling, couples counseling, family counseling, play therapy for children and telehealth. Serving clients from age five through late adulthood, Taylor Counseling Group is proud to offer a standard rate of just $90 per session.

"With Covid-19 numbers still high and unfortunate news stories coming out day after day, there is still an incredible need for easily accessible mental healthcare," says Dr. Christopher Taylor, founder of Taylor Counseling Group. "We are grateful to be able to expand our practice to Waco and give residents an invaluable resource."

Taylor Counseling Group provides affordable, reliable and accessible mental health services to communities across Texas. Professionally trained clinicians work with individuals of all ages to develop personalized treatment plans to achieve unique goals.

"The Waco area is seeing steady growth and with the influx of residents, we see an opportunity to provide for the community," says Abigail Locke, XX for Taylor Counseling Group. "I'm excited for our team to be able to work with patients in-person and truly get to know each and everyone who walks through the door."
